National Capital Region Survey | Summary

Conducted by Nanos for the National Capital Commission, July 2019
Submission 2019-1433

NCC
CCN

Eight in ten say the NCC is generally doing a good job in safeguarding assets of national significance

Overall awareness of the NCC remains high among residents of Canada's Capital region (CCR), and more than half recognize the NCC by its mandate. A majority of residents with at least some familiarity with the NCC have very positive or positive impressions on the NCC, while a small proportion have negative impressions. Among residents with neutral impressions, nearly half say they don't know enough and over a third think the NCC is doing a so-so job. Consistent with the previous wave, a majority of residents continue to give the NCC good marks on development of federal government property, planning federal land use in the region, and assessments of the NCC balancing of activities with the needs of local municipalities. Close to eight in ten say the NCC is generally doing a good job in safeguarding assets of national significance, and nearly seven in ten think it is doing an excellent or good job at protecting the environment, which is consistent with the previous wave.

Awareness of consultation opportunities has decreased since 2016/17 but remains slightly higher than 2014, and active participation in consultation has remained consistent. The LeBreton Flats development dominated mentions of NCC in the media, especially for residents in Ontario. Majorities continue to agree the NCC shares their values and trust it to make good decisions, although fewer people than in 2016/17 agree it does a good job of consulting and informing the public regarding its plans/programs. As in both previous waves, almost all agree the NCC has a role to play in making the Capital an inspiring reflection of Canada and Canadians.

The summary below highlights key findings of this research.

Awareness of and familiarity with the NCC

- The NCC remains most widely recognized for the Rideau Canal Skateway (53%), followed by Gatineau Park (48%), and the Greenbelt (44%).
- Over half of residents (54%) are now able to identify the NCC when read a description of its mandate. Associating the NCC with this mandate remains somewhat higher among Ontario residents (59%) than among Quebec residents (43%).
- Total awareness of the NCC is consistent with previous years, with nine in ten residents expressing some level of awareness of the organization.
- Familiarity with the named roles and responsibilities of the NCC remains stable, with over six in ten residents saying they are very familiar or somewhat familiar. Overall familiarity remains highest on the Ontario side.

Nearly seven in ten feel the NCC is doing either an excellent or good job at protecting the environment

Awareness of recent communications activity or media

- There has been a notable decrease since 2016/17 in the proportion of CCR residents who recall seeing or hearing something about the NCC in the media or through word-of-mouth. The dominant story was LeBreton Flats, mentioned by more than four in ten in residents, especially residents in Ontario.
- Media coverage overall remains more likely to leave a favourable impression (39%) of the NCC than an unfavourable one (25%), and there has been an increase in the proportion saying their impression from the recent story was neutral (35%; 31% in 2016/17), and a decrease in those saying they were left with an unfavourable impression (25%; 30% in 2016/17).
- Over one in three CCR residents who express familiarity with the NCC are aware that opportunities for public consultation exist, lower than 2016/17 (40%), although still higher than in previous years. Active participation in consultations remains low and has marginally decreased from 11 per cent in 2016/17, with nine per cent saying they have ever gone to some type of session or provided input to the NCC.

Impressions and assessment of performance

- Residents continue to say that the NCC's most important contribution to the region is its role in developing/maintaining green spaces and parks (28%; increased from 22% in 2016/17), and it is also recognized preserving heritage. Developing and maintaining green space and parks is continuing to trend up as the most important contribution the NCC makes to CCR.
- The majority of residents positively assess the NCC's performance developing federal government property, planning land use, and balancing and coordinating of plans with local municipalities, consistent with 2016/17.
- As in 2016/17 and 2014, close to eight in ten say the NCC is doing an excellent or good job at safeguarding physical assets of national significance, and most of the rest feel it is doing a fair job.
- Consistent with 2016/17, nearly seven in ten feel the NCC is doing either an excellent or good job at protecting the environment.

More than nine in ten residents strongly agree or agree that the NCC has a role to play in making the Capital an inspiring reflection of Canada and Canadians

Impressions and assessment of performance (continued)

- Consistent with previous waves, when asked what priorities the NCC should focus on for the next three to five years, the most mentioned is preserving and maintaining the green spaces and heritage sites (such as Gatineau Park) (40%). Just over two in ten mention development of federal land, including LeBreton Flats (21%).
- Majorities of residents familiar with the organization continue to agree that they trust the NCC to make good decisions, that it shares their values and that it is well-managed. When it comes to whether the NCC does a good job of consulting and informing the public on its plans and programs, over half continue to agree with this, although this has decreased since 2016/17 (2019: 45% agree; 2016/17: 51% agree).
- Almost all residents strongly agree or agree that the NCC has a role to play in making the Capital an inspiring reflection of Canada and Canadians.
- Overall impressions of the NCC remain generally consistent with previous years: more than six in ten who are at least marginally familiar with the organization report a very or somewhat positive opinion of it.
- Consistent with previous waves of research, the most common reason given for a positive impression of the NCC, by three in ten of those, is that “it does good work.” Other commonly mentioned reasons are enjoyment of festivals and events, the parks and green spaces, and feeling the region is well managed.
- The most common reasons given by the small proportion who express a negative opinion of the NCC (nine per cent) are that it has too much power, a lack of consultation, and taking too long to make decisions. The proportion of residents who say the NCC is poorly managed or they disagree with their decisions has significantly declined.

Study Objectives

NCC

 NANOS

The National Capital Commission (NCC) is the Crown Corporation responsible for planning the use and development of federal lands, maintaining heritage sites such as official residences and commemorative sites, and, managing and conserving natural assets, such as, the Greenbelt and Gatineau Park.

The purpose of the 2019 NCC Public Awareness Survey was to measure progress against baseline data obtained from the 2016-16 and 2014 surveys to inform NCC's engagement strategy, strategic communications, image and branding.

The specific research objectives for the study are as follows:

- How does awareness and impressions of the NCC differ across segments of the CCR, including province, municipality, and demographic characteristics?
- What is the awareness (unaided and aided) of the NCC and its mandate?
- What are the overall impressions of CCR residents towards to the NCC?
- How do CCR residents feel the NCC is performing in terms of its roles and responsibilities?
- How have opinions changed, if at all, from the previous waves?

Methodology

NCC

 NANOS

Nanos conducted an RDD dual frame (land- and cell-lines) random telephone survey of 1,500 residents of Canada's Capital Region, 18 years of age or older, between June 6th and 19th, 2019. Participants were randomly recruited by telephone using live agents and administered a survey. The sample is geographically stratified to be representative of the Canada's Capital Region. The geography definition for the Capital Region was provided to Nanos Research by the NCC. Respondents were selected from a list of postal codes provided by the NCC.

Individuals were randomly called using random digit dialling with a maximum of five call backs.

The margin of error for this survey is  $\pm 2.5$  percentage points, 19 times out of 20.

The research was commissioned by National Capital Commission and was conducted by Nanos Research.

Note: Charts may not add up to 100 due to rounding.

The survey was conducted in Canada's Capital Region in Ottawa and Gatineau, and the areas were divided up into the following zones:

Introduction

Bonjour/ Bonsoir. Mon nom est _____ et j'appelle de Nanos Research, une société de recherche sur l'opinion publique. Nous menons aujourd'hui un bref sondage sur la région de la capitale du Canada. Nous vous assurons que nous n'essayons pas de vous vendre quoi que ce soit. Votre participation n'est pas obligatoire et tout ce que vous direz demeurera strictement confidentiel.

Nous choisissons des numéros de téléphone au hasard, et nous sélectionnons ensuite aléatoirement une personne à interviewer. Ainsi, nous aimerions parler à la personne de votre foyer âgée de 18 ans ou plus qui a célébré son anniversaire de naissance le plus récemment. S'agit-il de vous?

[SI ON LE DEMANDE : Répondre au sondage devrait prendre environ neuf minutes de votre temps.]

[SI ON LE DEMANDE : Je pourrai vous révéler le nom du commanditaire du sondage à la fin de celui-ci.]

SI LA PERSONNE CHOISIE N'EST PAS DISPONIBLE, PRENDRE UN RENDEZ-VOUS POUR LE RAPPEL.

SI LA PERSONNE CHOISIE N'EST PAS DISPONIBLE DURANT LA PÉRIODE DES ENTREVUES, CHOISISSEZ LA DEUXIÈME PERSONNE DONT L'ANNIVERSAIRE DE NAISSANCE EST LE PLUS RÉCENT.

VEUILLEZ CONFIRMER SI LE RÉPONDANT/LA RÉPONDANTE PRÉFÈRE QUE L'ENTREVUE SE DÉROULE EN ANGLAIS OU EN FRANÇAIS.
